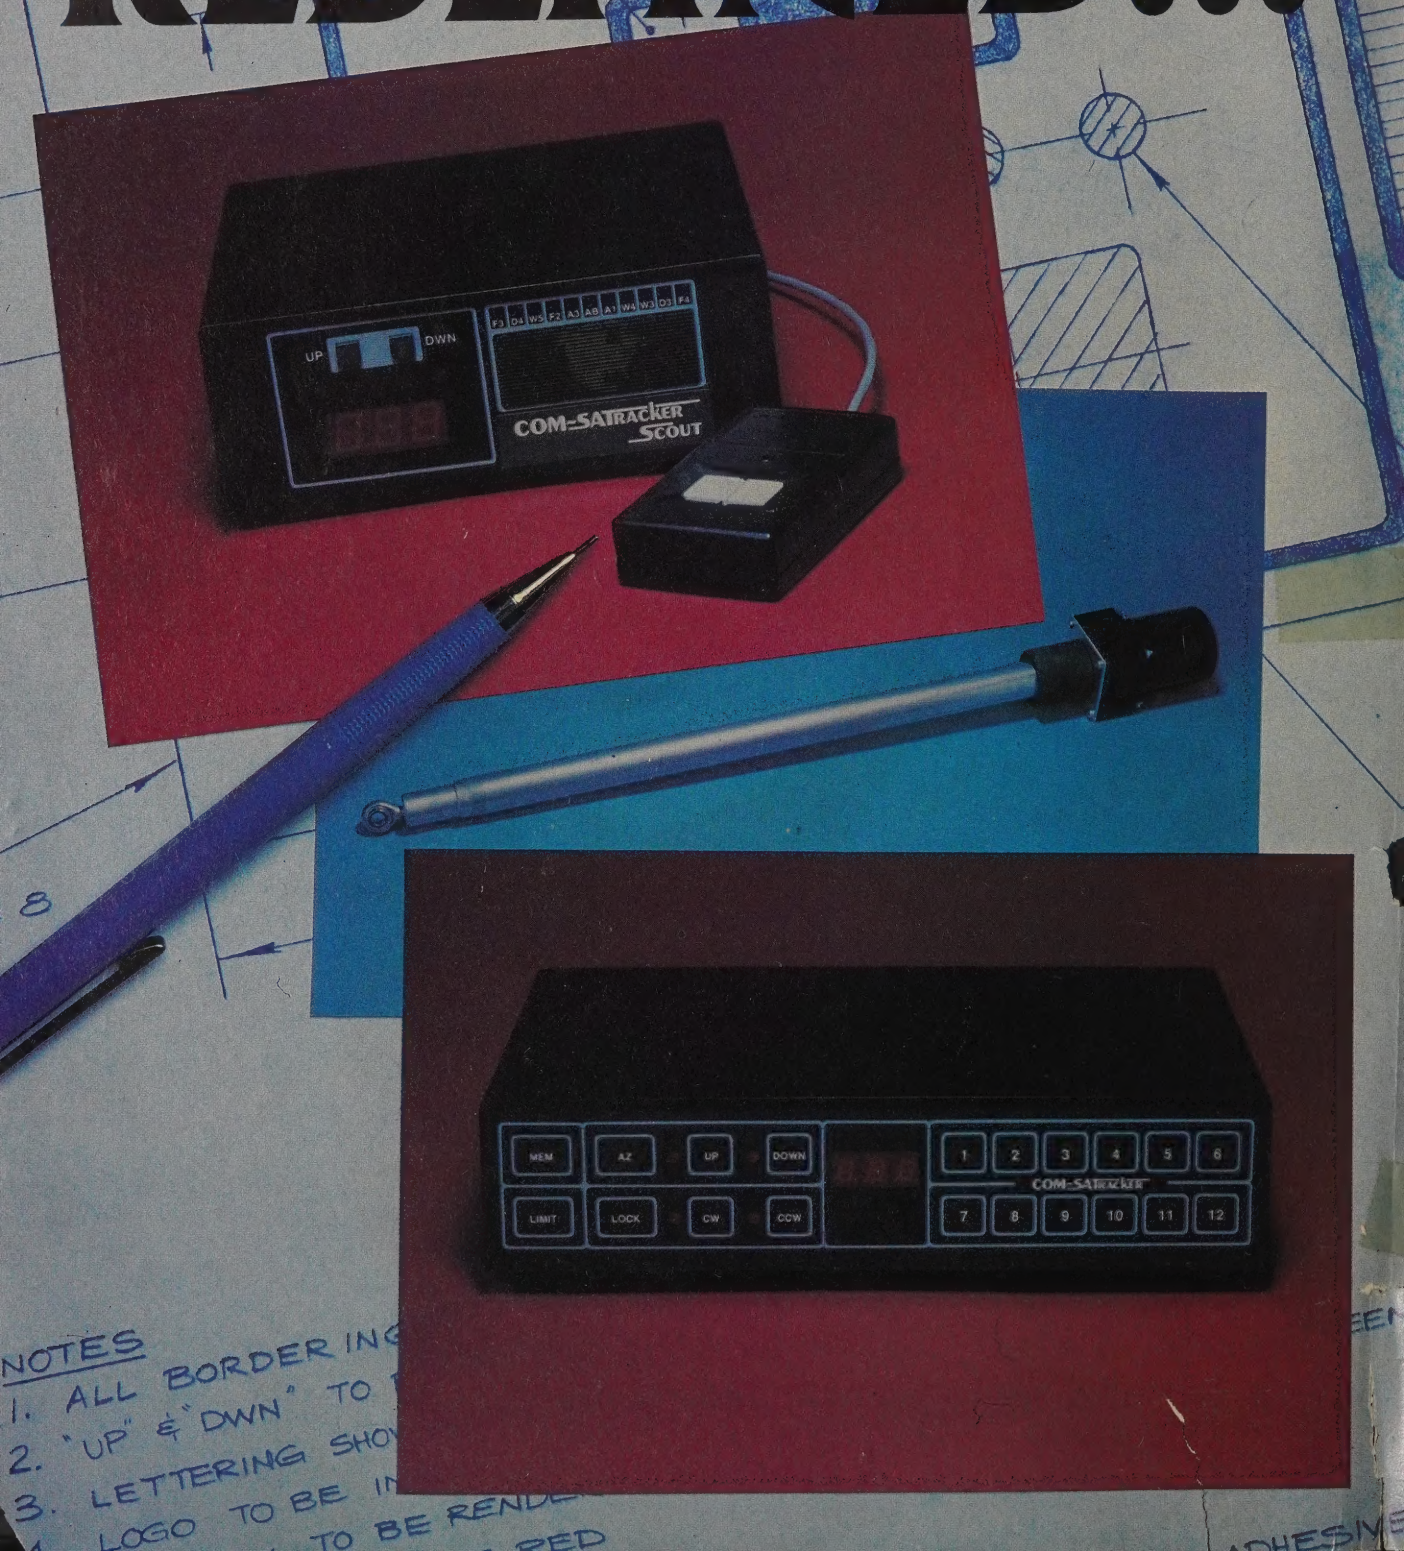
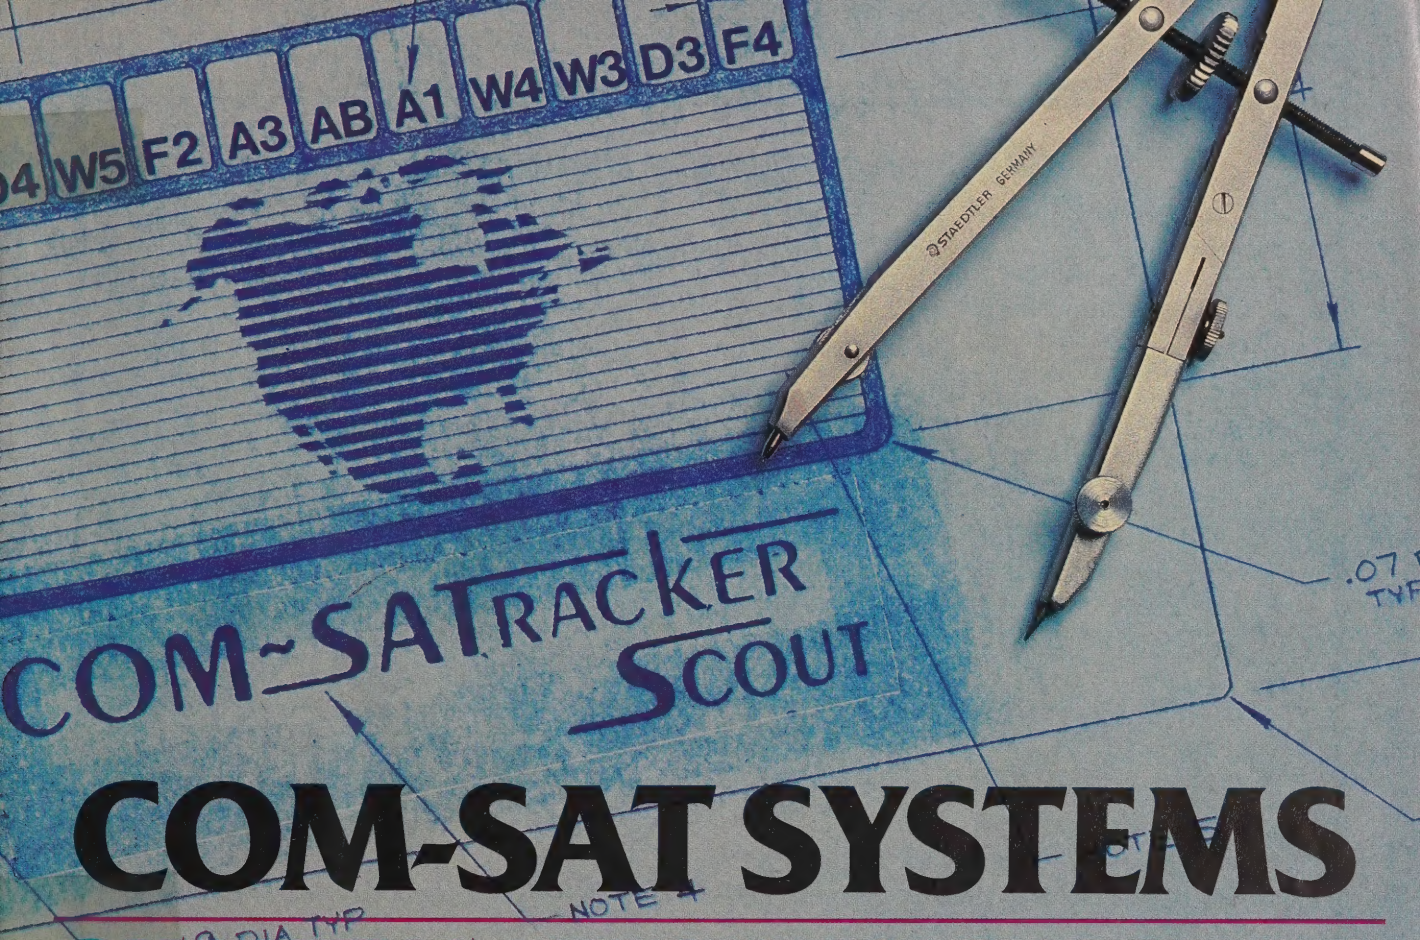
YOUR COMPLETE SATELLITE ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

PRECISION REDEFINED...





COM-SAT SYSTEMS

QUALITY & PRECISION BY DESIGN.

Com-Sat would like to introduce to you a new definition of precision. In short, our Antenna Positioning Systems. Each system is manufactured with the same patience, care and attention that has gone into our initial designs. Com-Sat offers superior Trackers at reasonable prices. You couldn't offer your customers better Tracking systems because there aren't any.

Com-Sat has done it again! Our fully programmable, computer controlled system has a "LITTLE" counterpart with "BIG" features, the Com-Sat SCOUT. This East/West Digital Com-Sat Tracker utilizes our NEW 24 VOLT Com-Sat Actuator, complete with Acme thread and Potentiometer to ensure accuracy and long life in the field of operation. The Com-Sat SCOUT complements our fully programmable Tracker very well. The programmable system features a non-volatile memory, parental Lock-out and polarity control to name a few. It's ease of operation and installation emphasize the Quality you demand in Antenna Positioning Systems.

PROTEST AND SURVIVE !!!

The Federal Government wants to regulate satellite T.V. reception. Many key decisions are being made now which are unfair.

Cable companies want to control your viewing and their profit taking by monopolizing all television reception.

CSPACE LOBBIES FOR YOU TO FIGHT THIS

Our laws say that

IT IS LEGAL TO RECEIVE SATELLITE T.V. SIGNALS

for your private use.

Help us to inform the public about our industry.

Help us to ensure that the government is not mislead by other powerful lobbying groups.

TAKE CONTROL

The satellite television industry is Canada's number one chance to ride the technological employment wave. Why waste the edge we need, when we can win at a game we started in 1972 with the Anik satellite.

Send in your proxy vote.

Let CSPACE carry on your fight so satellite viewing and responsible government can live.

DON'T ALLOW THIS TO HAPPEN

Yes, I support CSPACE in their fight for the satellite television industry.

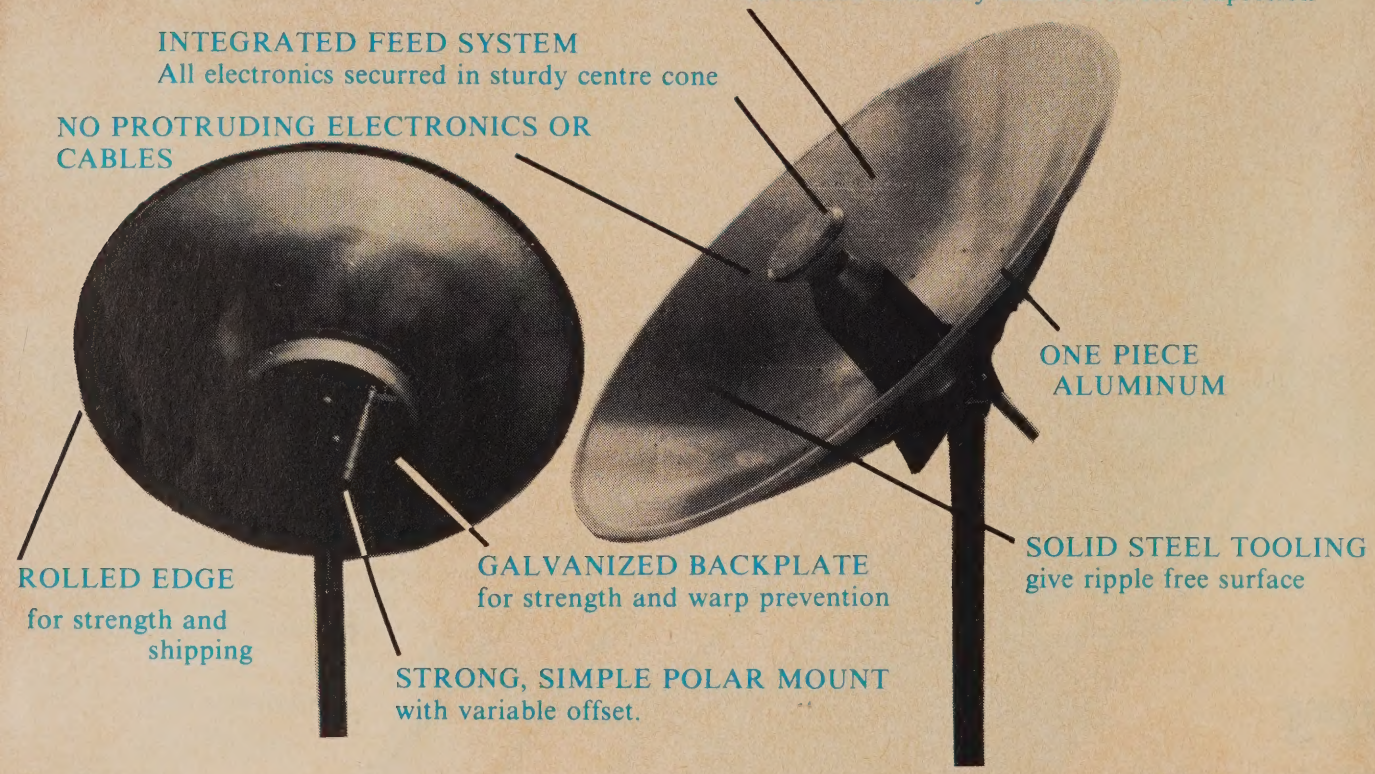
THE PARABOLIC JUST BECAME OBSOLETE.

COMMANDER INTRODUCES "THE ELIMINATOR"



The key to success in installation is simple. Get it up, get it working, get your money, and get on with the next job. Fast.

Not an easy thing to do with most dishes... especially those mechano sets that mean hours of assembly and still more hours of siting and tweeking.

The ELIMINATOR makes life easy.

The ELIMINATOR is the combination of a unique non-parabolic reflector-subreflector design that presents overall efficiency that exceeds 70% - far better than the 55% - 60% of conventional parabolics.

Everything fits together in a snap. No fuss. No muss. No tweeking. And no call backs.

Not only that, you know you're working with a product that has higher efficiency, better interference suppression, better looks, and better price than just about anything else on the market.

And that's only the start!

The ELIMINATOR. It eliminates most of the problems.

Editor's Corner

TO GO OR NOT TO GO . . .

That was the question. However, my son and I decided to visit the Vancouver Satellite Trade Show at the Delta Inn on February 3rd, 4th and 5th. Apart from having our picture taken by the host in a peculiar way, we enjoyed ourselves by meeting many interesting people and the service at the hotel was not less than excellent.

Unfortunately, the host put on his own public display which was quite embarrassing for all of us, especially to some of our friends, south of the border.

It is obvious from the interest generated by this show that there is a need for a major satellite trade show in the near future. I believe that a central location such as Winnipeg or Toronto would get more dealers participating and if run by professional and ethical business people from the satellite industry this would be the success everybody is looking for, to make a truly significant world class satellite trade show.

Incidentally, you may have noticed a slight name change from Satellite T.V. Guide to Satellite Entertainment Guide. This is just the tip of the iceberg. Next month's guide will feature a new cover design, expanded listings and some other special surprises. Thanks to you, we're the number one selling satellite listing magazine in Canada.

How important is the role of the distributor in the success of a satellite dish retailer? A comprehensive survey of successful satellite dish retailers discloses that the distributor is in a key position to play the deciding critical role in determining the success or failure of a retail dish operation. What we're talking about, of course, is distributor-dealer marketing support.

The amount of marketing support a retail dealer receives from his distributor is ultimately determined by the dealer himself. After all, it's the retail dealer who chooses his distributor. The wise retailer will consider more than just price when shopping for suppliers. In choosing a distributor, a retail dealer also chooses the kind and quality of after-sales support he'll receive.

The worst kind of distributor-dealer marketing support is none at all. And that's exactly what altogether too many frustrated dealers have received after hasty purchases from high-pressure distributors whose credentials have not been checked out.

Far too many retailers are presented with nothing more than a pile of merchandise and simply told to "go sell". That's a lot of bravado without much substance. What happens to a retailer (especially the fledgling retailer in his first six critical months of operation) when a customer's dish system develops some extraordinary kinks he's not familiar with? What about some pointers on handling particularly troublesome clients or some practical advice on overcoming objections?

What's the quality of marketing support your distributor is giving you? Is your distributor actually helping you make the sale to your customer or is he simply unloading as many systems as he can on you, perhaps even more than you need? Don't rush into any business association without surveying the market. Shop as carefully for your distributor as you would for your insurance . . . by investigating and comparing.

How long has your distributor (or potential distributor) been in business? How large is their dealer network? What is the distributor's long range marketing strategy? Is it a short term strategy or are there clear indications the distributor intends to be around long after the competition packs up to steal away into the night?

Other factors to consider in addition to price when shopping for a distributor include service support, co-op support and general marketing finesse. If your distributor is not every bit as interested in your making a sale as he is in selling to you, then you should start looking for another distributor.

In Canada, the market for dish systems has exploded open since the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission permitted the nearly unrestricted private reception of satellite signals. While not sprouting as quickly as mushrooms, the familiar sight of a dish atop a bar, condominium or in a backyard, is becoming increasingly common across the country.

Up until now, the satellite industry in Canada has lacked a major distribution network that could effectively serve the marketplace on a national level. One company though, ChannelBeam Home Satellite, is positioning itself to emerge as the industry leader in Canada. And the same company is already eyeing the United States as part of its long-range marketing strategy. ChannelBeam's bid to establish itself as the national industry leader is based upon its clear application of tried and true creative marketing techniques and aggressive promotion. Not to be misunderstood, ChannelBeam's major thrust in its distribution network is its philosophy of unfailing dealer marketing support.

The most visible aspect of ChannelBeam's national, dealer-support marketing plan is focussed on its recently unveiled "Shuttle Program." Named after the world's most recognizable rocketship, ChannelBeam has developed a mobile, self-enclosed satellite TV reception demonstration unit which it lends to ChannelBeam retailers on a regularly scheduled basis for their in-town promotional use. It's the only demonstration unit of its kind in the country. Built at a cost of $50,000 into the box of a 30' long truck, the ChannelBeam Shuttle is essentially a mobile living room video-theatre with a permanently installed satellite dish affixed to the vehicle.

The ChannelBeam Shuttle is considered by knowledgeable industry observers to the the ultimate mobile satellite TV reception demonstration unit. Built over an eight month research and testing period by ChannelBeam Marketing Manager Ty Coon (his real name!), the demonstration Shuttle features a complete operating satellite TV system, 2 colour TV monitors, a VCR, a Dolby stereo sound system and six swivel Captain's chairs. The interior is completely panelled and heated. The satellite dish itself is affixed to the truck by means of a sliding rail system designed by Coon. The sliding rail system makes dish set-up simple, easy and fast and eliminates the need for a cumbersome attached trailer to tag along or tow.

In just a few minutes after parking in front of a ChannelBeam dealer's store or in the town shopping mall or country fair, the Shuttle demonstration unit is ready to entertain interested and curious passersby. Through effective pre-planned media publicity and co-ordinated newspaper advertising, the mobile satellite reception demonstration unit draws crowds wherever it stops.

With the theatrical flair of a Big Top set-up, the satellite dish pulls out of the unit along its on-board rail system, flags go up and the entrance staircase is lowered into position. Blinking marquee and floodlights bathe the unit in exciting illumination which beckons the public. The crowds love it and so does ChannelBeam President Bill Philipps. "The Shuttle demonstration unit is the most important cog in our marketing machinery. It's constantly on the road, travelling an ever broadening route."

Inside the Shuttle unit, both TV monitors are utilized to their fullest extent. One monitor features live satellite feeds from HBO, ESPN, The Movie Channel, Nickelodeon, Showtime, MTV, FNN, Cinemax, The Weather Channel, Cable Health Network and The Playboy Channel. The other TV monitor features ChannelBeam's professionally produced, high powered 10 minute video sales tape. Written and directed by Philipps himself, extra copies of the video promo are made available to all ChannelBeam retailers for in-store use.

According to Philipps, as a distributor, marketing support is what ChannelBeam is all about, "The Shuttle satellite TV reception demonstration unit is the key component of our retail network. The Shuttle unit is presented to local ChannelBeam retailers on a scheduled basis every month for their in-town promotional use. As the mobile demonstration unit keeps going back month after month, it creates continuity and a corporate identity for the local ChannelBeam retailer. We've found it has a considerable snowball effect especially after the 3rd visit."

Marketing Manager Ty Coon is often joined on the Shuttle demonstration tours by Philipps. "It's a great way of keeping on top of things. It keeps me in touch with the realities of the marketplace and the needs of our retail dealers. The Shuttle demonstration unit represents my company's commitment to the satellite dish industry and to our retailers and I'm proud of it. Plans are already underway for the construction of two additional mobile demonstration units over the next six months."

Philipps is determined to keep his long-range marketing strategy on course. "ChannelBeam is going to be number one in the satellite dish business because there is no franchise fee to become an authorized dealer rep or for an exclusive territory. We're setting up a system of master sub-distributors for every province in Canada. We're just now finalizing terms with a master sub-distributor in Newfoundland. We're building another Shuttle unit for him to cover that province and he'll receive a complete turn-key marketing program. We're on the move now and we're actively seeking to strike up identical deals across the country."

ChannelBeam has committed itself to an extensive retail marketing support campaign in addition to the Shuttle unit. Considerable time and expense was invested in studio quality, high gloss brochures. Like all his other efforts, Philipps went all out on the brochure, writing and designing it himself.

A toll-free number has been another good investment, according to Philipps. The number is painted on the exterior of the Shuttle demonstration unit and is a prominent feature on all ChannelBeam advertising and literature. "It's also available for the use of our retailers," adds Philipps, "We want our retailers to be able to reach us on a no-hassle basis and we find the toll-free number an expedient solution."

ChannelBeam also provides a comprehensive co-op advertising plan to its retail dealers, designed to stimulate consumer awareness and potential sales. Included in the package is finished art work, copy and press releases. A major advertising campaign is being formulated to include trade magazines and newspapers.

Philipps admits that supplying extensive marketing support is expensive but feels it's well worth the investment. "Sure, it costs us a bundle. But, as a distributor, retailers see we're serious about our commitment to them and to their customers. The results speak for themselves. The expansion of our dealer network and the growing velocity of sales prove we've hit upon the right marketing approach."

Yet another aspect to the ChannelBeam marketing strategy is the utilization of the often-ignored "bird-dog" promotion. In towns where ChannelBeam retailers have been established, area stores engaged in the home video business, personal computers, TV's and stereos, are offered commissions on closed leads. To encourage interest in the local ChannelBeam dealership, the bird-dog receives a kit containing a one foot mini satellite promo dish for display, the ChannelBeam video sales tape, posters and cardboard pop-up display stand with pamphlets and brochures. In turn, a purchase of a dish system from a ChannelBeam retailer may entitle the customer to a generous discount on a VCR in a bird-dog's store down the street. It is generally believed that the proliferation of dish systems also stimulates the purchase of VCRs and blank tape. "Everybody benefits this way," says Philipps. "Anybody engaged in the home entertainment business can direct leads to a local ChannelBeam dealer. They receive a commission for their effort while appearing to be expanding their own product line through an association with our company." A further development along these lines are the current negotiations for tie-in promotions with several major video franchisors.

As its main product line, ChannelBeam has aligned itself with Luxor which it describes as a quality product, competitive in both price and performance, and in consumer features. ChannelBeam is also bullish about the virtues of its new "microformed" dishes for which it is the exclusive distributor in Ontario. Stamped out of pressed aluminum, the 7½ foot dishes generate outstanding performance characteristics. The distribution company also carries 9 and 10 foot spun aluminum dishes.

ChannelBeam's Bill Philipps says a distributor can play a key role in determining the success of a retail dish operation. "Dealer marketing support is the key and that's what we're all about." FACT:

Of all the Canadians who are diagnosed as having cancer during 1982, 50% will be alive and considered well in 1987. That's a whole lot better than it used to be.

CANADIAN CANCER SOCIETY

There is an answer to cancer... And you are helping us find it.

FACT:

Of all the Canadians who are diagnosed as having cancer during 1982, 50% will be alive and considered well in 1987. That's a whole lot better than it used to be.

CANADIAN CANCER SOCIETY

There is an answer to cancer... And you are helping us find it.

SATELLITE DIRECTORY 1984 BUYER'S GUIDE

LAST CHANCE TO ORDER YOUR COPY AT SUBSTANTIAL 20% PRE-PUBLICATION SAVINGS!

THE SOURCE BOOK OF PRODUCTS AND SERVICES FOR THE SATELLITE INDUSTRY

The first of its kind...Completely unlike any directory or buyer's guide you've ever seen. Available in March, 1984 to give you what you need, when you need it, throughout the satellite business.

You'll want to keep this extraordinary reference book within easy reach and use it regularly.

For the first time ever, current information on virtually every conceivable product and service for the satellite industry can be found in one place...

The 1984 SATELLITE DIRECTORY AND BUYERS GUIDE. Introduction by Bob Cooper and Taylor Howard

1. Product Directory – A to Z coverage of virtually all the products available for the satellite industry. Including Antennas (broken down by types and sizes), Receivers, LNA's, Feed Systems, Actuators, Mounts and Accessories.
2. Supplier Directory – Hundreds of specific manufacturers and distributors of satellite products, fully identified with addresses, key individuals to contact and phone numbers.
3. Satellite Company Profiles – Expanded listings for many key manufacturers with extensive product descriptions.
4. Industry Member Cross Reference – Know someone's name but can't remember which company he works for? This section will find him for you.
5. Buyers Guide Product Chart – A graphic display featuring thousands of satellite products along with identification of the sources that supply them.
6. Distributors – A geographic breakdown of all satellite distributors with addresses and phone numbers.
7. Associations – All the satellite trade associations are listed in this section.
8. Programming Services – A special section detailing what satellite programming is available and where to obtain it.
9. Toll Free Phone Numbers – A useful money saver, this section lists "at-a-glance" all the 800 watts lines for many satellite manufacturers.
10. Publications – All the satellite industry trade publications are listed so that you can contact them for more information.

The 1984 SATELLITE DIRECTORY AND BUYERS GUIDE will include just about every source you'd ever want to know about!

The Directory is handsomely bound with sectional tab dividers for quick and easy use. And, if you act now, you can benefit from a very special pre-publication price! Just $19.95 if you order in advance...Over 20% off the regular $25.00 cover price! Use the coupon below to reserve your copy for delivery in March, 1984.

Yes, I want to take advantage of the special pre-publication price of $19.95 (postage included) for Video Product News' 1984 SATELLITE DIRECTORY AND BUYERS GUIDE, The Source Book of Products and Services for the Satellite Industry. Please see that I receive my copy(s) immediately upon publication next March.
